

CLEAL BRADFORD

Cleal Bradford has been working on behalf of San Juan County and the State of Utah for decades. He has been the executive director of numerous agencies in San Juan County, including the Utah Navajo Development Council, San Juan Resources, White Mesa Ute Council, Blue Mountain Dine, Inc. and Nations of the Native West.

Cleal has also served as Board Member for the State Division of Economic Development, as well as the State Division of Indian Affairs. Elected offices have included the City Council and Mayor of Blanding City.

Throughout Cleal's career he has always demonstrated a love of and commitment to the Native American community of Southeastern Utah. Cleal has also had a great reverence for the many antiquities and artifacts found in Southern Utah and has been a tireless advocate for protecting the natural, cultural and historical resources of the area so that they may enjoyed by tourists as well as future generations of Utahans.

Cleal is currently the Executive Director of the Four Corners Heritage Council and facilitated the development of Monument Valley Welcome Center and is working on the Four Corners Monument Welcome Center.

Cleal has also worked tirelessly on various scenic byways in the state, including the Bicentennial – Trail of the Ancients, Indian Creek Corridor and Monument Valley to Bluff.

Cleal's has promoted and worked on behalf of the state in various capacities since 1965. Married for 54 years with 7 children, Cleal's efforts on behalf of the state are being enjoyed by our citizens as well as his 47 grandchildren and 45 great grandchildren.